Abstract

The objectives of the research were to found out the kinds of teacher talk that used by English teacher during the classroom interaction and to know the students’ perception about teacher talk in classroom. The population of this research was 162 students of seventh grade students. The researcher only took 32 students as the sample by applying purposive sampling. The data were collected through observation and questionnaire. Then the researcher used descriptive method for analyzing the data. The result of this research showed that the teacher used all kinds of teacher talk while giving questions and feedback. In giving questions, teacher used procedural questions (23%), display questions (70%), and referential questions (7%). In giving feedbacks, the teacher used informing (38%), prompting (23%), encouragement (8%), criticizing (23%), ignoring (8%) as the feedbacks for incorrect answer. And for correct answer, the teacher used praising (75%) and summarizing (25%) in the class. For the students’ perception toward teacher talk used by the teacher while giving questions and feedbacks, the students agreed that teacher always use all of the feedback except ignoring. It concluded that the teacher talk which teacher used while giving questions and feedbacks in the English class of the seventh grade students at SMPN 23 OKU is good. In addition, English teachers in Junior High School were suggested to develop and improve their basic ability in managing their talk, especially the ability in giving the appropriate questions and good feedbacks to the students in English class. With all the type of their talk, the interaction between the teacher and the students will be built and increase. The teacher must be a good facilitator and motivator to the students in learning English.

INTRODUCTION

Every school had English teachers that played very important role in teaching and learning activities in the classroom. Teacher was as the center of the students to ask everything that they do not know. The teachers might know part of part English in the lesson, especially the schools that used KTSP as their curriculum. They should be able to manage the classroom in order to make the students interested to learn English lesson by using English in the classroom. It meant that the teacher must use English at least the simple utterance in the classroom. The teacher’s utterances were called teacher talk. The kind of language used by the teacher for instruction in the classroom was also known as teacher talk.

According to Yanfen and Yuqin (2010, p.76)” The success of teaching depends to a large extent on the way teachers talk and interactions that occur between teachers and students”. It was an indispensable part of foreign language teaching in organizing activities, and teacher talk did not only determine how well they make their subject, but also assure how well the students would learn. It meant that teacher talk was very important because it affected the process of teaching and learning in the classroom. Therefore, teachers could use teachers talk for stimulus to their students, like asking question and giving feedback. With giving feedback to the students’ response, the active participation of student in the classroom also increases. Feedback is information that is given to the learner about his or her performance of a learning task, usually with the objective of improving this performance (Ur, 2009, p.242). In some situations, sometimes when teachers applied their teachers talk, they faced with unresponsive or uncooperative classes without knowing the reasons why. It also happened in some class of the seventh grade students in SMPN 23 OKU, the class sometimes were passively during the teaching and learning process, and the teacher didn’t’ know why (teacher’s interview result, July 29th2017). This situation will more trouble when a teacher and his or her students have opposing views about what should occur in the classroom interaction, the students may lack confidence in the teacher’s ability, especially his or her ways in giving appropriate questions and feedbacks to students (Inayah 2012, p.14). So, in other word platforms for the anonymous voicing of students concern and perception were necessary, even less most the students of English classes in EFL countries (and language students in particular) were not willing or able to communicate their opinions or perceptions freely to their teachers.

In researcher’s pre-observation, the researcher had interviewed an English teacher in SMPN 23 OKU. Pre-observation was done at July, 29th 2017 to found out the situation of teaching learning process in the seventh grade students. Referring to the explanation from the English teacher at that school, she used English in teaching learning process and combined with Indonesia language to adjust the condition of students. She also used variation questions such as procedural, display and referential to ask her students and she used display question prefer than referential and procedural question to make her students be actively using the target language. For feedback, she often used praising when the correct answer and prompt for the incorrect answer to create interaction between them.

Based on the explanation above, the problems that the writer investigated is formulated in the following question:

1. What kinds of teacher talk that used by English teacher during the classroom interaction?
2. How was the students’ perception toward teacher talk?

LITERATURE REVIEW

Concept of Perception

According Adediwura and Tayo (2007, p.165) “Perception is critical because it influences the information that enters working memory”. Perception referred to the way we try to understand the world around us. According to Sani (2016, p.30) “Perception refers to the ability picking out something through senses (seeing, hearing, touching, or smelling)”. It organism interpret and organize sensation to produce a meaningful experience of the world.

The Concept of Teacher Talk

1. The Features of Teacher Talk

According to Wasi’ah (2016, p.29) “Teacher talk is used to guide the learning activity of the students in constructing a joint and share the educational knowledge with the students”. While Yanfen & Yuqin (2010, p.76) state that teacher talk is an indispensable part of foreign language teaching in organizing activities, and the way teachers talk not only determines how well they make their lectures, but also guarantees how well students will learn.

a. The formal features of teacher talk

Long and Freeman found that teacher talk was simplified in other ways-syntactically, phonologically and semantically (Ma, 2006, p. 14). In the syntactic domain, utterance length to children was shorter. In the area of phonology, speech to children was pitched higher, has more exaggerated intonation, and uses a wider pitch range. It was characterized by clearer articulation, pauses between utterances and an overall slower rate of delivery. In the semantic domain, vocabulary was more restricted, teachers carefully select the words they use according to the students proficiency and level. New words and difficult words were avoided. Chaudron (1988, in Ma, 2006 p.14), having investigated teacher talk for a long time and summarized some research results on teacher talk, proposed teacher talk in language classrooms tends to show the following modifications:

1) Rate of speech appears to be slower.
2) Pauses which may be evidence of the speaker planning are possibly more frequent and longer.
3) Pronunciation tends to be exaggerated and simplified.
4) Vocabulary use is more basic.
5) Degree of subordination is slower.
6) More declaratives and statements are used than questions.
7) Teachers may self-repeat more frequently.

b. The functional features of teacher talk

1) Questioning

This deals with leading students to acquired certain knowledge. In a teaching and learning context, question refered to any idea that requires a response from listener.

2) Functions of teachers’ questions

The pervasiveness of teacher questions in the classroom could be explained by the specific functions they perform. These functions can be grouped into three broad areas: diagnostic, instructional, and motivational (Donald & Paul, 1989, in Ma, 2006, p. 17).

3) Types of Question

As it had been explained by Richards and Locharts (1994, in Qashoa (2013, p. 53), there were three types of questions. They were procedural, convergent, and divergent questions.

2. Teacher’s Feedback

Feedback is information that is given to the learner about his or her performance of a learning task, usually with the objective of improving this performance (Ur, 2009, p. 242). An important aspect of classroom interaction is the manner in which the instructor handles student responses (Ma, 2008, p. 97). The ways instructors handle students’ responses were closely connected with the effect of the interaction. Based on Ma (2008, p. 97), there were two kinds of feedback that are frequently used. They were positive feedback and negative feedback. Positive feedback was more helpful than negative feedback to improve the students’ behavior and study motivation.

Based on the two kind of feedback, there were more specific feedbacks that usually found in the language classroom, they are:

a. Feedback to incorrect and no response.

When students provided no response, that was, they may not know the expected answer or they were reluctant to give any answers or when they provided incorrect responses, both linguistically and discourse incorrect, the teacher would choose to give a follow-up or feedback in one of the following ways (Yanfen & Yuqin, 2010, p. 81).

1) Prompt

It was an attempt to get the participant produce the correct answer by the use of a clue to indicate the location and nature of the error, or requesting the student to make clarification of what he has just said, or by the teacher repetition of what the student has said with an emphasis on the incorrect part, so as to arouse the attention of the student to the error, such as: “A verb isn’t suitable here, what do you think you can use here?” “Are you sure this is the way they do?”

2) Encouragement

Encouragement was an act of inspiring with hope, courage, or confidence: behavior of heartening. Here were samples: “It’s OK, I am sure you can manage to make up a more complex sentence next time.” “Don’t worry, just say whatever you know, it does not matter whether you answer is correct or not, I just want to know what do you know.”

3) Criticizing

Criticizing was to comment on students’ incorrect response severely. Teacher’s critics are important for students’ leadership development (Sofyan & Mahmud, 2014, p. 48). It meant that criticizing not only to give feedback but it also used to develop the students’leadership in the teaching and learning process. Examples were: “Did you do any reviewing?” “You’d better pay more attention to what I am talking in class, don’t do any other things in class, OK!”

d) Ignoring
Ignoring referred to the situation where teacher pay no attention to students’ mistakes or turn to another student when the first one cannot give an answer, such as: “OK, sit down, next one!” “Anyone knows the answer?” “Ana, could you help him?”

b. Feedback to correct response

When students have provided the correct response, teachers usually give some kind of comment, or just a brief acknowledgement (Richard & Lockhart, 1994, in Yanfen and Yuqin, 2010, p. 81). According to Yulianti (2013, p. 38) there were two feedback to correct response, those were:

a) Praising

It was refers to the very brief feedback from the teacher in response to correct answer, such as: “OK, good!” “That’s right!” “Yes, an excellent answer!”Furthermore, Yanfen and Yuqin (2010, p. 81) in their journal said that praising was like acknowledgment or comment.

b) Summarizing

When the student answered the correct answer, sometimes the teacher repeated the student answer with different words or sentences, i.e. using synonym. It meant that teacher try to make the students’ answer more effective so that they can learn more. They can learn how to make effective sentence, vocabulary and also how to pronounce correctly.

c. Classroom Interaction

1) Classroom Interaction Pattern

Based on Ojedekon & Okewole (2011, in Bawa & Suleiman, 2015, p.72), classroom interaction involves reciprocal actions that take place in a room, in a school, between the teacher and the students. This implied that the teacher formally instructs the students, while the students react in response to the teacher’s instruction. For the instructor, classroom time was a golden opportunity to meet face to face with students, delivering the teaching materials effectively with the aim to ensure that students were learning what was being taught.

a) Language Teaching Strategies

A strategy was defined by Brown (2007, p. 122) as a technique that is used in order to solve a problem. For him, there are two types of strategy: communication strategies and learning strategies. Communication strategies were linked to output; that was to say, expressing meanings or give messages to other people whereas learning strategies are strategies that were related to input, which meant to get an idea or a message from others.

There were two strategies that can be done by teacher to invite students involved in the interaction during the learning process:

1) Giving Task

Giving Task was difficult for some teachers. Many aspects should be considered to reach the aims of given task. For instance, any easy task would not give students who complete the task a feeling of developing competence because tasks that were too easy produce boredom and decreased feelings of competence and self-efficacy. Mart (2011, p. 7) stated that “Work that is too difficult raises anxiety, whereas tasks that are too easy contribute to boredom; both situations decrease motivation toward learning.”

2) Giving Choice

A favorite motivator of many teachers was choice. Patall and Cooper (2010, p. 910) stated that “In particular, teachers suggested that choice was especially beneficial for students with low interest and little motivation for a particular task.” Students were intrinsically motivated to work when they feel self-determination rather than controlled.

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

In this research the researcher conducted the research by using descriptive method. Descriptive studies describe and interpret what it was. The purposes of this research that the researcher got a data that describe the condition about the fact of students’ perception toward teacher talk in English classroom at the seventh grade students.

b) Teacher’s Feedback
Feedback is teacher’s response to the students act (Richard & Lockhart, 1994, p. 188). Teacher gave many kinds of feedback after the students respond her question, direction or invitation. The following table presented the feedback which teacher used based on the classroom observation.

DISCUSSION

This part deals with the interpretation of the research findings.

1. Kinds of Teacher Talk

The data about teacher talk in the classroom which had been gathered showed 2 kinds of teacher talk proposed by Yulianti (2013) those were teacher’s question (procedural, display, and referential) and teacher’s feedback (informing, prompting, encouragement, criticizing, ignoring, praising, and summarizing). In this research, the researcher found that the teacher used all of teacher talk in SMP Negeri 23 OKU in the classroom. They were teacher’s question and teacher’s feedback. These kinds will be explained specifically as following:

a) The kinds of teacher talk used by the teacher while giving questions in the class

Based on the finding of the observations, in the teaching and learning process the teacher used all types of the question during the observation. But when the giving the material, teacher prefer to employ more display question (70%) than referential question (7%) to monitor students competence and understanding in the content of the material. It was same with the teacher’s interview result that she used display question prefer than referential and display question to make her students be actively using the target language (teacher’s interview result, July 29th2017).

1) Procedural Question

Procedural question used by teacher for many times. For examples:
1. How are you?
2. Oke.. masih ada yang bingung tidak?
3. Nah itu sudah tau. Kalau kira kira ibu kasih soal sudah siap??

2) Convergent or Display Question

The teacher used display question which the answer was already known or common knowledge and the response were often short answer, such as “yes” or “no” or short statements during teaching process. For examples:
1. Time.. oke kalau masih inget. Ibu tanyo dulu oke.. ibu tanyo kalau 8 lewat 30 tuh apa sih? Coba tunjuk tangan yang bisa..yang bisa tunjuk tangan.
2. Kasih tepuk tangan dulu. Kalau ini (am) hanya digunakan untuk...
nominal. Jadi disini hanya menggunakan I study, karena I subjek sedangkan verb nya adalah? Coba ibu tanya -s dan -es hanya untuk? Ayoo...

3. Divergent or Referential Question

3) Referential question

Referential question also encouraged diverse students responses which were not short answer and it encouraged students to provide their own information rather than to recall previously presented information. For examples

1. Kok tidak? Kenapa Ibu tanya.. kenapa I am study tuh bukan?
2. Kenapa itu salah? Kenapa?
3. Kenapa does benar bukan do?

b). The kinds of teacher talk used by the teacher while giving feedbacks in the class.

In the learning process researcher have found that the teacher used all the types of teacher feedbacks during the observation, there were included feedbacks for incorrect and no answer (informing, prompting, encouragement, criticizing, and ignoring) and feedbacks for correct answer (praising and summarizing).

1) Informing

1. Bukan gowes tapi goes. Nah ini contoh dari?
2. nggak ada –es. kenapa nggak pake –es? Karna dia... negative.
3. Salah nak, karena dia menggunakan they.. jadi jawaban nya play... tidak pake –es. Oc sekarang nomor 4 ini coba lia, sini Nggak usah takut ibu bantu tenang aja ayoo..

2) Prompt

1. Coba kita lihat.. yuk yang lain perhatikan ye, bener atau tidak ini nak, coba diperhatikan lagi kata kerja sama tobe nya.
2. Bisa... yang mana coba salahnya, yuuk.. tobe nya pake?Penghapusnyo nah...
3. Coba ibu kasih tau dulu, ini does diperhatikan lagi kalimat nya ya, bener tidak menggunakan does..

3) Encouragement

1. Salah nak, karena dia menggunakan they.. jadi jawaban nya play... tidak pake –es. Oc sekarang nomor 4 ini coba lia, sini nggak usah takut ibu bantu tenang saja ayoo..

4) Criticizing

1. Sini suardi contohnya...Bajunya ini masukin...
2. T : Jadi kalo lebih dari satu orang dia masih menggunakan do... tapi kalo dia menggunakan 1 orang jadi?
S : (silent)
T : Does.. kok lambat sih.. yok sekarang nomor 2. Nih liat depan nya monkey.. mengerti?
3. Sekarang ibu kasih soal latihan 1 sampe 5. Ibu kasih waktu 15 menit untuk ngerjakan nya okee. Jangan ribut.. kerjakan.. Diana, kerjakan tugasnya.. sudah belom ta...Oke sudah belom...
5) Ignoring
1. Ada yang bisa membenarkan dari rumus ini? okee siapa?
6) Praising
3. Oke terima kasih.
7) Summarizing
1. T : Sudah.. Oce this afternoon I will explain about the simple present tense. Ada yang tau simple present tense tuh apa sih? Ayo tunjuk tangan. Ayoo.. simple present tense. Do you know simple present tense? Ado yang tau?
S : Kejadian yang berulang ulang
T : Kejadian yang terjadi yang dilakukan berulang ulang. Tau?
2. T : Jadi itu menggunakan –es, contohnya lagi cook ini. Akhiran nya?
S : -k...
3. T : Karna lebih dari 2 atau 1 orang?
4. S : Satu...
5. T : Jadi kalo lebih dari satu orang dia masih menggunakan do...tapi kalo dia menggunakan 1 orang jadi?
1. Students’ perception
a. The students’ perception toward teacher talk while giving questions in the class
After the students’ answered the questions of questionnaire we could see that teacher often used display question than other question. According to the result of students’ perception in questionnaire, In procedural question about 31 students (97)% agreed when teacher always ask them to check their assignments that have been given. Then 28 students (88%) agreed when teacher always ask their readiness when they will start their English lesson in class. And 26 students (81%) agreed when teacher always asks questions related to their readiness when they will start their English lessons in class.

In display question, about 27 students (84%) agreed when teacher always give them questions that the answer they already know? Such as yes / no question or related to something already in reading text or book. And about 17 students (53%) agreed when teacher always give them less questions that sharpen their insights.

In referential about 25 students (78%) agreed when teacher always give questions that the answer they didn’t know surely, Such as their opinion widely? Like "what do you think about learning English?". And about 31 students (97%) agreed when teacher always gives model questions which test their insights to train their English. was supported by Richards & Lockhart (1996, p.187) statement, they stated that referential questions encourage to diverse student responses which are not short answers and which require student to engage in higher-level thinking and ability in search many new words or vocabularies.

b. The students’ perception toward teacher talk while giving feedbacks in the class

Based on the students’ perception in questionnaires, most students agree of the feedback that teacher given.
